While the engine was leaving the main line and striking the siding it ran into five freight cars, four loaded with cotton bales, and one with wood. The cars were forced forward and broke a telegraph pole at the crossing. The engine was in charge of Engineer D. A. Doyle and the conductor was Joseph Ennis. Doyle remained in the cab until the engine came to a standstill, but he was all ready to jump, as it looked as though the engine was about to turn over.

a standstill, but he was all ready to jump, as it looked as though the engine was about to turn over.

The accident completely blocked the main line of the Central Vermont. The second car behind the engine was a flat car and was broken in two. A portion of the engine was damaged at the front. It had just come out of the repair shop.

Wrecking trains were speedily sent from New London and Palmer and for the balance of the day and evening passengers had to be transferred around the wreck. All freight north and south was held up for many hours. It was about 11.30 o'clock Saturday evening before the track was cleared, although section hands were working upon the scene practically all day Sunday, getting things back into shape. Freight trains were running as usual Sunday in both directions and a number of extras were sent over the road. This makes three wrecks that have occurred on the Central Vermont road within a few miles of this city in less than six months.

Friday evening Mr. Blish worked as usual at his store on Church street and retired at his accustomed hour, apparently as well as usual. Saturday morning he called his son and told him that he guessed that he had had a shock as he could not talk very well. Medical assistance was sought and it was reported Sunday that Mr. Blish was somewhat improved. It is expected that he will recover.

Chicken Thief Arrested in Hartford. Ernest Nye, the notorious chicken chief of South Coventry, is again in the toils, having been apprehended while in the act of disposing of his nocturnal spoils in Hartford Saturday.

Deputy Sheriff Eugene F, Hutchinson of Columbia succeeded in capturing Nye in East Hartford, brought him back to this city Saturday evening on the 7.30 o'clock train and lodged him in the police station. He will take Nye to North Coventry this morning for a hearing before Justice of the Peace Andrew Kingsbury.

Nye has owned up that he stole eleven chickens from Edward Tillinghast of Flanders Thursday evening. He had sold only two of the number when Sheriff Hutchinson caught him. Nye has been in court in this city at various times for minor offences and has a record as a chicken thief.

Poor at Christmas.

The St. Vincent de Paul society connected with St. Joseph's parish held a special meeting Sunday after the 10.30 a. m. mass in the assembly room of the old convent and perfected many plans for the coming festival of Christmas in carrying out its accustomed benevolent purposes. The report of Treasurer W. J. Sweeney was pleasing to members of the society. Several members spoke and a committee was appointed to see that the work is carried out this week within the means and power of the society.

J. O'Sullivan, who has been president of the society since its inception 14 years ago, made some interesting Hosea Greene of Dayville has week, Hosea Greene of Dayville has ben called upon by the authorities in that city to make answer to the serious charge. Whether the man who gave Greene's name and auto number did so with malicious intent, whether he was an autoist from this section who knew Greene and selected him on the impulse of the movement to bear the blame of his own carelessness, is not known; but the facts are that Hosea Greene of Killingly was not in Hartford last Tuesday night, had never been, in that city but once, and that five years ago, and on the day of the accident his auto had not been out of the town of Killingly. Again, Hosea Greene never worked for the Pratt & Whitney Co., of Harttford, as the auto driver who claimed to be Greene said he did.

It is alleged that Mr. Greene refused to take his victim away in his automobile after the accident occurred and stopped only long enough to allow the spectators to get his name and number."

ber."
Mr. Greene is a carrier on a rural free delivery route from the Dayville postoffice. In covering his route he uses a runabout. He went over his route as usual last Tuesday, returning to the Dayville office between 12.30 and J. m. His runshout was rur in and I p. m. His runabout was put in the barn at about three o'clock and re-mained there until Wednesday morn-ing. Eccause of the nature of Mr. Greene's work it has been a very easy matter for him to prove that neither himself nor his machine was in Hart-ford at six o'clock last Tuesday night.

FACTORY NO. 2 SOLD.

Sound and Thriving Industry Insured for Industrial Place.

A deal that may prove of great in-dustrial benefit to Danielson was closed Saturday, when factory No. 2 at Industrial place was sold to the American Worsted Yarn company. This time the factory is sold without any ifs or ands and the company that takes it over is said to be coming to Danielson without a dollars worth takes it over is said to be coming to Danielson without a dollar's worth of stock to offer for sale to any one. It really looks like Danielson was coming into its own at Industrial place and the announcement clears away some of the clouds that have been hanging over the big investment venture at the north end of the town. The personnel of the new company is not given out, but it is stated that men backing up the concern are experienced in the making of parallel. yarns and financially capable of carrying on a thriving industry. Part payment on the mill has already been made; the balance will be paid on the passing of the deeds, which will be some time before May I, the date fixed by the superior court to allow the Industrial and Manufacturing company to redeem the mill from foreclosure proceedings.

pany to redeem the mill from foreclosdire proceedings.

The fact that the yarn company has purchased the mill is very pleasing to the six mortgagees as they will be able to adjust their claims on the property in a satisfactory way.
The sale of the mill will also result in the adjustment of the six suits that have been brought by the mortgagees.
The machinery to be installed in the mill has been secured and shipments to Danielson will soon commence. The way in which the company is coming to Danielson is distinctly in their favor, and the assurance is given that the American Worsted Yarn company will be a valuable addition to the manufacturing concerns of this place.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Edward Dexter.
